

الاسعاف والطوارئ

The current American Heart Association (AHA) recommended synchronized cardi-overversion dose for narrow complex SVT is

- 100 J
- 50-100 J
- 120- 200 J
- Defibrillation is recommended

You are called emergent to a 26 y/ o female patient who is 30 weeks pregnant. She was involved in a low speed MVC and now has some abdominal discomfort. She reports no vaginal bleeding but states her belly hurts. You take a spinal precautions with a long spine board and when placing this patient on the pram it is important to

- Place the patient in left lateral recumbent
- Tilt the backboard to the patient's right
- Place the patient in semi-fowlers position for transport
- Tilt the backboard to the patient's left in head injuries, the injury that occur at the same side of the original impact is

- coup
- ipsicoup
- contrecoup
- primary injury